

Mockup Review Notes

Eileen Cho

Hi Christina,

I really like the mockup! I can see how the mockup, especially the history page timeline, will transfer onto the mobile version, which is great! Below are some additional comments I have. Feel free to reach out to me over Slack with any more questions.

- Home page:
 - o If you make the mockup 100%, everything seems a bit big. I think for the homepage, it would be nice to see the full image and the description in one screen (for the description, I think you just have to make the font and line height smaller).
- The brands:
 - o I'm not too sure what this is going to end up looking like, but I kind of want to see the "wine & spirits/fashion & leather..." part under "the brands" title. Maybe instead of the slanted lines you could do a straight line or just a • . Let me know when you put in the images/names of brands or what you were thinking to put in the placement spots!
- History page:
 - o Again, I love how this would transfer to the mobile page, but it looks a bit too narrow and vertical on a computer. Maybe for the desktop version, you could just follow the other page formats and have the title on the side? And then for the mobile version or anything with a screen less than a certain width, then you could change all of them to have the title on the top like you have here? I also think that the timeline could be a bit smaller- it looks really good zoomed out but it's really big on 100% zoom.
- Charity page:
 - o Looks great. I would just align the charity title up to the top like all the other titles are.
- Other:
 - o Maybe on each page, when it's on it, there could be an underline on the nav bar to indicate which page it's on more directly
 - o I think there should be a footer with the sources and maybe a note saying like this site is not affiliated with LVMH and is for informational purposes or something.
